.Wear sunscreen daily:

Sunscreen is one of the single most important things you can do for your skin. When applied correctly, sunscreen protects your skin against the sun's harmful ultraviolet (UV) rays

Protection from UV rays is important all year, not just during the summer. UV rays can reach you on cloudy and cool days, and they reflect off of surfaces like water, cement, sand, and snow

- Seek the shade, especially between 10 AM and 4 PM.
- Don't get sunburned.
- Avoid tanning, and never use UV tanning beds.
- Cover up with clothing, including a broad-brimmed hat and UV-blocking sunglasses.

Skin Types

Your skin type is based on the amount of sebum (oil) your skin produces. Skin's oiliness can change over time and may also be influenced by factors such as stress, genetics, hormones, humidity, and the natural aging process.

Normal skin

is well balanced: neither too oily nor too dry. Normal skin 'Normal' is a term widely used to refer to well-balanced skin. The scientific term for healthy skin is eudermic. Characteristics of normal skin include a regular texture, no or few imperfections and a soft appearance. Normal skin does not require special care.
